 Sir, I have the honour to present to you a Report from investigations made during an official visit to England, Scotland, and the United States of America on Town Planning. The information contained in this Report is intended to show what is being done in other countries to avoid the danger, as threatened in most cities, by insanitary conditions, bad housing, and bad town planning, and to illustrate also what may be done in Victoria for the improvement of our cities, as well as for the health and welfare of our citizens. The planning of a town is not a new idea, but the carrying out of any portion of its growth, towards a completed scheme, had fallen into disuse until recent years. Other countries have awakened to the necessity of providing for town planning legislation, and are reaping the benefits which experience shows are always derived from scientific planning. The development of a city has to be arranged by the study of its conditions and tendency, its inhabitants, its life and industries;...
